

Image not found or type unknown

Clover guest house

Category	Country Houses	Authors
Year	2010	Alexander Poroshkin

Modifications of suburban guest houses in the shape of a clover. The structure is made of wood, facade finishing can be anything — from wooden beams, mosaic tiles, to an almost «live» green cover. Depending on the material, the appearance of the house can be monotonous and restrained, or bright and fancy.

The Clover consists of 2 floors, the area of the first floor is about 109 sq.m., the second — 97 sq.m. This will comfortably accommodate a family or a company of friends. The house has large window openings, there is also a large glazed surface on the roof, so that the rooms will have a lot of natural light and the space becomes cozy.

Image not found or type unknownImage not found or type unknown