Design project for an apartment LITSA residential complex in Khodynka District.

It was extremely important for the future residents that the new apartment interior was in line with their habits and needs.

Architects divided the space into a reception area (living room, kitchen, hall), work and private areas — a bedroom for adults and children's rooms.

The emphasis was on lighting, furniture functionality, finishing and decorative materials. The design solution — consistent neo-classical design with the exception in the children's rooms, where there are bright elements, soft diffusing lighting and fantasy wallpapers on the walls.
